MA STAR triple safety in the fast line Sales of the two post lift gather speed

- MAHA receives a promising response to the launch of its latest two post lift, the MA STAR triple safety. This includes several hundred orders and positive feedback from customers, industry and the media.

Haldenwang, 16th June 2020. “We are delighted that our latest product has met with such a positive response from the market,” says Managing Director Stefan Fuchs. Coverage of the MA STAR triple safety by the automotive media, such as that by kfz-betrieb, Krafthand, Werkstatt aktuell and asp Auto Service Praxis, has been especially positive. The company has also already confirmed several hundred incoming orders. “Judging by the number of customer enquiries, we know that the actual interest is substantially higher. But due to the current corona crisis, the market is reacting cautiously in terms of binding commitments,” explains Managing Director Dr. Thomas Aubel. The majority of MA STAR triple safety orders are from Germany. Sweden is the top customer on the international market, followed by the UK and the Czech Republic.

Sun Maskin & Service AB in Karlstad, Sweden, received its delivery of more than 30 MA STAR triple safety two post lifts at the end of April and is more than satisfied with the purchase, “It’s a high-quality two post lift with an excellent price-performance ratio. Because of this, we can offer our customers a safe and reliable product with a long service life.”

Production in full swing

Production in Haldenwang has been running at full speed for weeks. The first 164 units (status June 2020) of the MA STAR triple safety have now been produced. Several of these have already been delivered to customers and installed in Germany as well as abroad. The MAHA SERVICE CENTER team is also readily available to install the brand new two post lifts at customer premises – in compliance with current hygiene regulations. Thanks to plug and play technology for the power supply, a folding cable bridge and circuit board plug connections for the sensors, a quick and problem-free installation is guaranteed. As a result, nothing stands in the way of initial commissioning; customers can get started with their first test runs right away.

MAHA is already planning to extend the product line with the MA STAR triple safety 5.5 t. Production is set for October 2020 onwards.
